

Student Survival Kit

Welcome to the Institute of English Studies! We are looking forward to working with you and hope that the years you spend at Károli will not only help you obtain your academic degree but will also be full of truly memorable experiences. This sheet is a small “survival kit” designed to provide basic information about life at the institute.

Some Useful websites

The Institute’s website: <https://btk.kre.hu/index.php/anglisztika-intezet> This is where you find ALL the relevant information concerning your studies (e.g. curricula, guidelines for thesis and essay writing, contact information for faculty, etc.).

The Institute’s Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/KaroliEnglish> This is where you find information about upcoming events, programs, etc. Make sure to join!

How to communicate with faculty and staff

Members of the faculty might not be available every day. They might or might not reply to emails at once.

Sample email to teachers:

- have an informative subject line
- be concise
- no emoticons
- If you write on behalf of other students as well (for example, you submit homework together), use the Cc function (= include the students into the mail).
- In replies, use the Reply all function!
- be formal:

Dear Professor, / Dear dr. Surname, / ~~Dear Maria, / Dear Teacher / Miss ... / Mrs ...~~

Tisztelt Tanárnő! Kedves Tanárnő! / Kedves Tanár Úr! / ~~Kedves Judit! / Jó napot! / Üdvözlöm!~~

I am a first year student in your BAN 1234 class. OR: I am a student in your Language Practice class (Monday 12.00).

All the best, / Yours sincerely, / Üdvözlettel: / ~~C-U tomorrow,~~

Minta Gabriella (osztatlan tanárképzés / BA 2025-ös évfolyam)

HSDF23 (Neptun kód)

Contacting the Institute Administrators:

Send your emails to anglisztika@kre.hu. If you enquire about a certain course, write the subject and the course code in the subject line, like this: Subject: BAN 1013_01 Failing to do so will slow down the processing time of your enquiry.
