

STUDENT WRITING SUPPORT

Dear Students,

This semester the Institute of English Studies continues to offer consultations to students to help develop their writing skills and make their language learning process more effective. Writing consultations are available to any student who has not passed the Basic Exam, or to any part-time student who has classes on Fridays and Saturdays.

Consultation system: 15-minute consultations with individual students to help them with a specific piece of writing. The focus will be on YOUR problems (structure, wording, grammar, etc.) and suggested remedial work that YOU can do. Advice on effective study skills or how to improve them will also be provided if required.

Consultations should be arranged by email at least three days in advance (writing.kre@gmail.com).

Students can sign up for several consultations, but only students who have not yet passed the basic exam or who are part-time students.

Consultations are held online.

Time: individually arranged via email

No shows: failure to show up for a consultation without at least 24 hours' notice of cancellation should result in a warning that a repeat no show will result in being excluded from further consultations.

STUDENT SPEAKING SUPPORT

The Speaking Support is also organized for those who have not passed the basic exam yet. Consultations are held online. They are to provide help with the preparation for the oral part of the exam. Students can apply individually or in pairs. Email address: speaking.kre@gmail.com
