

Programme of the First Theoretical and Experimental Linguistics Workshop

Wednesday, 25 th October 2023
8:40	Registration – coffee & tea available
9:10	Opening of the workshop by Prof. Péter Furkó, Vice-Rector for Science and Research, KRE – Room: I 20
9:30	László Cseresnyési and Miklós Kontra (invited speakers) – Room: I 20 – chair: Tibor Laczkó Empirical linguistics – a cautious obituary
10:10	Balázs Surányi (invited speaker) – Room: I 20 – chair: Tibor Laczkó Pre-school children’s identification of sentence focus: Functional cues and formal comparisons
10:50	Coffee & tea
	Thematic Session 1 – Room: I 20 Child language & therapeutic discourse Chair: Stanka Fitneva	Thematic Session 2 – Room: MF16 Argument structure Chair: Éva Dékány	Thematic Session 3 – Room: MF17 Noun Phrase Chair: Bence Pomázi
11:10	Reili Argus (invited speaker) On the acquisition of person category and verbs in Estonian. Mental state verbs versus action verbs	Petra Sleeman (invited speaker) Des-subjects and existential bare plural subjects in European Romance Languages: A comparative approach based on translations	Valeriya Marinina Semantics of the exophoric uses of Northern Khanty demonstratives
11:50	Balázs Surányi and Máté Gulás Prosodic structure affects pre-schoolers’ interpretation of negated disjunctive sentences	Tibor Laczkó On the puzzle-ing complexity of Hungarian copula constructions – With further bits and pieces	Dóra Pődör Some Irish (pseudo-)partitives: the use of cuid ‘part, portion’ with nouns denoting body parts and languages
12:20		Péter Szűcs Predicate-argument duality of proforms
12:50	Lunch
14:20	Stanka A. Fitneva (invited speaker) – Room: I 20 – chair: Anne Tamm Evidentials in questions. Evidence from adult – child conversations
15:00	Éva Dékány (invited speaker) – Room: I 20 – chair: Anne Tamm Locative PPs as binominals: Evidence from Ainu and Sora
15:40	Coffee & tea
	Thematic session 4 – Phonetics & phonology – Room: MF16 Chair: Péter Szűcs	Thematic session 5 – Agreement – Room: MF17 Chair: Balázs Surányi
16:00	Marc van Oostendorp (invited speaker) Computing phonological structure in times of generative artificial intelligence	16:10 Lada Pasko Symmetricity, post- position, and hydras: Experimental evidence against ATB-analysis of partial agreement in Russian
16:40	Csaba Csides Word-stress and the distribution of consonant clusters in English	Tatiana Davidyuk Agreement with disjointed subjects in Russian
17:15	Beth Levin (invited speaker) – Room: I 20 – chair: Anne Tamm The door punched open and The cork pulled free: A neglected English resultative construction
18:00	Dinner reception on campus

Programme of the First Theoretical and Experimental Linguistics Workshop

Thursday, 26 th October 2023
9:30	Marcel den Dikken (invited speaker) – Room: I 20 – chair: Gábor Alberti The phonosyntax of ‘little x’
10:10	Enikő Tóth, Péter Csátár and György Rákosi (invited speakers) – Room: I 20 – chair: Marcel den Dikken Demonstratives at the crossroads of empirical and theoretical linguistic research
10:50	Coffee & tea
	Thematic session 6 – Lexicology & lexicography – Room: MF16 Chair: Katalin P. Márkus		Thematic session 7 – Multilingual grammars & code-switching – Room: MF17 Chair: Ivo Boers
11:10	Bence Pomázi (invited speaker) The ways changing in word classes illustrated through the material of the Comprehensive Dictionary of Hungarian (CDH)	M. Carmen Parafita Couto (invited speaker) Code-switching: Structural, social and cognitive factors
11:50	Balázs Fajt, Katalin P. Márkus and Mátyás Bánhegyi A structural model of dictionary use and EFL learning motivation	Attila Salamon and Margaret Deuchar Morphosyntactic integration in Hungarian/English code-switching
12:20	Esra M. Abdelzaher Exploring fuzzy meaning categories in dictionaries: insights from L1 and L2 speakers	Bryan Koronkiewicz and Rodrigo Delgado Qué libro is he referring to?: Preposition-stranding in Spanish – English code-switching
12:50	Lunch
14:20	Gábor Alberti, Atieno Linda Ouma, Anastasia Saypasheva Felvizi-Veress and Judith Farkas (invited speakers) – Room: I 20 – chair: Dóra Pődör The relation of the paradigm of nominal personal suffixes to that of verbal personal suffixes in Hungarian
15:00	Poster session – coffee & tea available
	Thematic session 8 – Room: I 20 Syntactic phenomena Chair: Ivo Boers	Thematic session 9 – Room: MF16 Bible as source texts for linguistic analysis Chair: Edit Rácz	Thematic session 10 – Room: MF17 Language variation & language education Chair: Mária Adorján
16:00	Oleksandra Palchevska and Iryna Aleksandruk English-Ukrainian corpus-based glossary of cyber security terms	Cecilia Sarolta Molnár (invited speaker) Assertions and/or questions: Tag question constructions in Hungarian Bible translations	16:10 Balázs Fajt The impact of video games on EFL learning motivation: A structural equation model
16:40	Tamás Káldi A real-time investigation of event apprehension, sentence production and the effect of focus in Hungarian	Tamás Bíró (invited speaker) Topic-focus word order in Biblical Hebrew and its translations into Hungarian	Dorottya Lehel and Anne Tamm The Estonian e-dictation as a source of language variation research
17:10	Kseniia Studenikina Identity conditions on ellipsis in Russian Nominal Right Node Raising	Levente Zoltán Király (invited speaker) Synchronizing Bible texts: Developing the database of the United Bible Reader online application	Etelka Tóth and Tamás Csontos Simonyi competition in the teaching of Hungarian as a first language in the Carpathian Basin – variation in the results
17:40		Tibor M. Pintér Role of language technology in analyses of contemporary Hungarian Bible translations	Krisztina Neumayerné Streitman Coaching approach and teacher motivation
18:10	Closing of the workshop – Room: I 20		